Conference : Is Your Organization Truly AI Ready?

Duration: 1 hour
Audience: Pour tous

Summary

AI is a cultural, operational, and ethical shift that is changing the rules of the game. But are you ready to play? This conference offers a clear and accessible perspective on the challenges of artificial intelligence in business. With over 30 years of experience in knowledge management and information architecture, Nicolas Georgeault now supports organizations in the strategic integration of AI, putting it at the service of processes, culture, and innovation.

As a speaker, trainer, and Microsoft MVP, he stands out for his ability to make complex technical topics tangible. He will guide you in assessing your organization’s digital maturity, identifying barriers to AI adoption, and activating the right levers to take action in a useful, sustainable, and inclusive way.
